

CITING WEB SOURCES

CHICAGO/TURABIAN STYLE

To cite a document available on the World Wide Web, provide the following information:

- Author's name, if known.
- Title of document, in quotation marks.
- Title of complete work, main home page, or journal in italics.
- Date of publication or last revision (if known).
- The URL (Uniform Resource Locator) OR for an article from a commercial subscription database, the name of the database if it is not part of the URL.
- If the URL is a stable URL it can be cited, but in the case of articles from subscription databases, extremely long URLs are counterproductive as mistakes in copying are prone to happen.
- Date of access, in parentheses, if information is time sensitive.

On-line Journal Article (full text is supplied by the database from a commercial supplier):

Harrower, Mark. "The Cognitive Limits of Animated Maps." Cartographica 42, no. 4 (Winter 2007): 349-357. Academic Search Complete, EBSCOhost (accessed July 4, 2008).

On-line Journal Article (direct from electronic journal website):

Ward, Paul. "Animated Realities: The Animated Film, Documentary, Realism." Reconstruction: Studies in Contemporary Culture. 8, no.2 (2008) <http://reconstruction.eserver.org/082/ward.shtml> (accessed July 4, 2008).

Online Magazine article (full text is supplied by the database from a commercial supplier):

Kingsbury, Alex. "Get a Once and Future Job." U.S. News & World Report, April 18, 2005, 70. Academic Search Complete, EBSCOhost (accessed July 3, 2008).

Newspaper article (from a commercial supplier):

Kolata, Gina. "Thought for Food For Long Workouts." The New York Times June 5, 2008 G1. LexisNexis Academic, LexisNexis (accessed July 4, 2008).

If the city is not part of the newspaper title, give it in parentheses after the newspaper title.

On-line Newspaper article, no author given (from a commercial supplier):

"Shell Chief Says Big Oil Must Move Into Alternative Fuels To Remain Viable." The Houston Chronicle. 7 October 2001, LexisNexis Academic, LexisNexis (accessed August 10, 2008).

On-line Newspaper article (direct from newspaper Web page):

Thompson, Mark. "Cyberia: Great Domain Robbery." The Japan Times Online. 7 March 2001, <http://www.japantimes.co.jp/cgi-bin/getcy.p15?cy20010307al.htm/> (accessed 3 December 2001).

Web Home Page:

Makela, Lee A. Beyond Stone and Moss: The Japanese Garden in its Cultural Context. March 30, 2001, <http://academic.csuohio.edu/gardens/garden001.htm/> (accessed December 3, 2001).

Section or Part of Web Page (no author given):

"Solar Water Pumping" Alternative Energy Institute. March 2, 2001, <http://www.wtamu.edu/research/aei/p2brochers.htm/> (accessed December 3, 2001).

Government Document:

United States Congress. "Individuals with Disabilities Education Act Amendments of 1997." Public Law 105-17. 4 June 1997. <http://frwebgate.access.gpo.gov> (accessed February 4, 2000).

Section, Chapter or Part of a Government Document:

United States Dept of Energy. D.L. Elliott, C.G. Holladay, W.R. Barchet, H.P. Foote, and W.F. Sandusky. "Candidate Wind Turbine Sites." Wind Energy Atlas of the United States. Golden Colorado: National Renewable Energy Laboratory (1986). <http://rredc.nrel.gov/wind/pubs/atlas/tables/E-1T.html/> (accessed December 3, 2001).

Section, Chapter or Part of a Electronic Book in a Library Collection:

Singh, Ajay, Owen P. Ward, and Ramesh C. Kuhad. "Feasibility Studies for Microbial Remediation Hydrocarbon-Contaminated Soil." In Manual for Soil Analysis: Monitoring and Assessing Soil Bioremediation edited by Rosa Margesin and Franz Schinner, 131-153. New York: Springer, 2005. NetLibrary e-book, Lynchburg College Library (accessed October 2, 2008).

Online Book, Full Text Available Electronically:

Jefferson, Thomas. Notes on the State of Virginia. Charlottesville, VA: Electronic Text Center, University of Virginia, 1993. <http://etext.virginia.edu/toc/modeng/public/JefVirg.html> (accessed October 3, 2008).

Notes:

- Arrange citations in alphabetical order by the authors' last names. For corporate authors, (organizations or government agencies) alphabetize on the first word of the organization or agency name. In the case of citations without an author given, alphabetize on the first major title word (i.e. ignore initials articles The, A, or An).
- Single space within citations. Leave one space between citations, and indent 2nd and subsequent lines of each citation.
- Follow "title format" rules for capitalizing article and Web page titles.

Sources consulted in preparing this handout:

The Chicago Manual of Style. 15th ed. Chicago: The University of Chicago Press, 2003.

Harnack, Andrew and Eugene Kleppinger. Online! A Reference Guide to Using Internet Sources. (2001)<http://www.bedfordmartins.com/online/> (accessed 4 December 2001).

Turabian, Kate. A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations. 7th ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 2007.