The success of our students, faculty and graduates around the world is a testament to the enduring value of the Lynchburg College experience. Our real and longstanding commitment to community sets us apart, and the pillars of our promise to students — discover, connect and ultimately, achieve — define who we are as a community of learners and drive us to realize our goals and aspirations.

As we continually redefine who we are as an institution, Lynchburg College is crafting a narrative that defines and illustrates how we offer our students Opportunities for life.

Our alumni and friends are essential to our ongoing success. As we celebrate the completion of the Drysdale Student Center and the conclusion of our capital campaign, we would like to recognize and thank you for your generosity and ongoing support of Lynchburg College.
Message from the President

THE PAST YEAR HAS been an exciting one as we have watched the expansion and renovation of the new Drysdale Student Center, which will help attract students to Lynchburg College for years to come.

We are grateful to board member Douglas Drysdale ’45 and his wife, Elaine Hadden Drysdale, for their $3 million pledge to the Student Center, as well as all the donors large and small who helped us raise a record $8.8 million in the past year.

A record $5 million bequest from Walter W. Ridgway Jr. ’48 helped push our endowment past $100 million for the first time in College history and allowed us to surpass our $12 million fundraising goal for the Student Center.

These milestones bode well for the College as we seek to provide opportunities for an increasingly diverse population of students, a record 32 percent in the Class of 2018. Many of these students are the first in their families to attend college and will need added support as we guide them through their years at LC.

We also began renovating our Graduate Studies Health Sciences Building to accommodate our new Physician Assistant Medicine program, planned for June 2015, pending approval from the Accreditation Review Commission on Education for the Physician Assistant. Centra, the largest health care provider in our area, generously gave $250,000 to the program in August 2014, and pledged another $250,000 upon provisional accreditation. Centra continues to be a very important partner with Lynchburg College and has also supported our Doctor of Physical Therapy program with a previous $500,000 grant.

In the spring, Lynchburg College was among the first colleges in Virginia to provide 100 percent renewable electricity to our campus using methane gas from landfills. We are offsetting between 50 and 70 percent of our total carbon footprint, and we will save at least $1.8 million during the life of the 12-year contract, a move that not only saves money but also demonstrates our continuing commitment to sustainability.

Finally, we launched a new brand that defines the Lynchburg College experience in terms of its ability to provide our students with “Opportunities for life.” Students themselves say that, at LC, involvement is not an option but an expectation. Our faculty and staff do a tremendous job of providing opportunities to help our students explore the world, and I’m always inspired by the many ways they Discover, Connect and Achieve.

Kenneth R. Garren, PhD
President

Message from the Chair

DISCOVER, CONNECT, ACHIEVE. LC OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES FOR LIFE. Maybe it was a favorite professor’s lecture, an afternoon spent with friends in the Dell or a memorable community service project. Whatever the reason, Lynchburg College donors have all been touched by the opportunities LC has afforded.

The College’s new branding tours LC as a place where opportunities abound, a place of discovery, connection and consistent achievement. These achievements are possible, in large part, due to the support of our committed donors.

This annual report, which includes the LC Honor Roll of Donors, celebrates this support and illustrates how gifts to Lynchburg College enhance the student experience in tangible ways, from providing a hub for student activities to affording scholarships for study abroad.

The year’s achievements would not have been possible without the leadership of President Ken Garren. The opening of the new Drysdale Student Center has been his dream, one that he has worked tirelessly to reach. I am especially grateful to him for his vision and his unwavering support.

I would also like to thank our dedicated Board members for their guidance and generosity. With their ongoing collaboration and engagement, I am confidently looking forward to continued growth and success.

I hope that you enjoy reading this annual report. 2013-14 proved to be an exciting year, and I look forward to another exceptional year in 2014-15.

Chair, Board of Trustees
Described by many as Lynchburg College’s “crown jewel,” the Douglas and Elaine Hadden Drysdale Student Center opened its doors to students this fall. On October 24, donors and friends celebrated the $12.7 million campaign and expansion at a Gala Celebration. The center is named for Douglas Drysdale ’45, a member of the Lynchburg College Board of Trustees, and his wife Elaine Hadden Drysdale, who pledged $3 million toward the building.

Chandler Eco-Lodge
at the Claytor Nature Study Center
The Claytor Nature Study Center has become one of the region’s most comprehensive sites for the study of science and the environment. Dedicated this past spring, the Chandler Eco-Lodge is built to EarthCraft certification standards with energy-efficiency and low-impact design in mind. The 16-bed facility provides a place for students, faculty and other researchers to stay at the 470-acre natural preserve. Former trustee Charles R. Chandler was an early donor to the project and named the Eco-Lodge for his family. For additional information on the Claytor Nature Study Center, please visit: www.lynchburg.edu/claytor.

Honor Roll of Contributors

With this report, Lynchburg College gratefully acknowledges gifts received during the 2013–14 fiscal year which began July 1, 2013 and ended June 30, 2014.
The Christian Church

Lynchburg College is affiliated with the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), a denomination with a tradition of welcoming persons of all faiths. The College was founded as Virginia Christian College by Dr. Josephus and Sarah Hopwood and a group of Disciples of Christ ministers and businessmen. The College receives annual funding from the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) through the Disciples Mission Fund and the Thanksgiving Special Offering for Higher Education. LC has always nurtured the concept of vocation, both for the counties pastors educated at LC and for the lay people who understand faith and a commitment to justice as part of their life work. The Board of Trustees, which reaffirmed our church affiliation in 2011, boasts four Disciples of Christ members and several others with strong Disciples ties.

The 1903 Society

In 1903, Dr. Josephus Hoopeved fulfilled a dream of establishing a college at which young men and women, through spiritual and intellectual development, would prepare for meaningful lives of leadership in their communities. In his autobiography, Dr. Hoopeved recalled his first impression of the place which would become Lynchburg College: “On arriving at Lynchburg, I was shown the beautiful Westover Hotel, facing God’s great sentinels from Pedlar Mountain to the Peaks of Otter. That was an inspirational moment.” Dr. Hoopeved had found the “ideal college site.” He turned to his colleagues and declared, “Boys, we’ll take it.” With great vision, he asked each of them to give $100 toward the purchase of the property. These gifts, combined with a $1,000 pledge from an area business, established what would become Lynchburg College. The faith, vision and philanthropy of this small group began a tradition that has sustained the College for more than a century. To honor the accomplishments of Josephus and Sarah Hoopeved and the many others who assisted them, The 1903 Society recognizes alumni, parents and friends who, through their annual support of $1,000 or more, uphold Lynchburg College and its students. Support from members of The 1903 Society help maintain the level of excellence that alumni, parents and students have come to expect. Lynchburg College honors these donors as members of The 1903 Society (2013-2014) for their support of $1,000 or more (July 1, 2013 - June 30, 2014).

Annual Report 2013-14

Faculty News

Dr. Eric Goff, associate professor of physics and noted expert on the physics of sports, remains a sought-after source by media from around the world, giving many interviews during his stay in the winter Olympics, soccer’s World Cup and the Tour de France.

Dr. Charlotte Goyens, professor of health promotion, received the College/University Health Education Professional of the Year Award from the Southern Association for the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance. The district encompasses 17 states from Texas to Virginia.

Dr. Cheryl Jorgenson-Earp, professor of communication studies, and Dr. Casey Clabough, associate professor of English, were featured presenters at the Virginia Festival of the Book.

A book by Associate Professor of English Dr. Laura Long, The Eye of Carolina Herschel: A Life in Prints, has been nominated for a Pushcart Prize. Her first novel, Out of Peep, was recommended by the Oprah Book Club as a book that “every joystick-wielding youth needs to read.”

Dr. Nihad Albakri, a pioneer in women's sports in her native Jordan and an associate professor at the University of Jordan, spent a year at LC comparing her country's sports with those in women’s sports in the Middle East.

Student News

Garrett Colles ‘14 was the 2013-14 Somervell Scholar, the highest recognition given by the College for a distinguished academic record. He was a chemistry major with minors in mathematics and biology.

Karen Butler ‘14 was named the 2014 Robert L. Hill Distinguished Senior, an award given to a scholar in the top two percent of the graduating class. She was a chemistry major with minors in mathematics and biology. LC students won awards at the National Model UN 2014. Two outstanding Position Papers, one Outstanding Delegate in Committee Award for the UN Environment Program Committee and an Honorable Mention Award for the entire LC Delegation representing the Republic of the Philippines.

Sports

The LC softball team also earned a trip to the NCAA Tournament, receiving the College/University Coach of the Year Award for the UN Environment Program.

The College will begin its Master of Physician Assistant Medicine in June of 2015, pending provisional accreditation in March 2015. This program has received financial support from Centro. Centro President and CEO E.W. Tidbits Jr. presented a $250,000 check to LC President Kenneth Garren as part of the institution’s continuing partnership to promote community health and to educate the next generation of healthcare professionals. The funds will be used for medical training equipment. Centro has pledged an additional $250,000 to the MPAM program for capital expenditures.

Physician assistants are advanced medical practitioners who are able to obtain medical histories, perform examinations, diagnose illnesses and prescribe medications.

Student Center Donor Recognition
A prominent feature of the new Drysdale Student Center is the donor wall, designed by 1717 Design Group. John C. Crank, Jr. ’79 and Laura Miller Crank ’79 are principals of the 27-year-old firm. Mr. Crank has worked on more than 100 major exhibition and signage projects and art directed innumerable publications and identity packages. His work has been honored by Print Case Books, the American Association of Museums, the Type Directors Club, Print magazine and is featured in the permanent collection of the Library of Congress.
Arriving at the Drysdale Student Center Gala, Glenn McMahon, Tom Centanni and Kathy McMahon pause to remember Missy MacGregor Centanni ’81. LC President Ken Garren donated a brick in memory of Mrs. Centanni in recognition of her service on the Alumni Association Board of Directors (twice), the Parents Council, as Co-Chair of her Class Reunion Giving Committee, and as an active Alumni Club leader. Missy was much beloved by family, classmates and friends. We will always honor her memory.
