CHECKLIST

Market Day Participants: Please read the checklist below for updated information and check off items as they are completed. Forms, templates, and timeline are available online at the Center’s website http://www.lynchburg.edu/center-economic-education/entrepreneurship-education-program

1. Each participating teacher must submit by January 29th the Market Day Teacher/Student Registration Form for his/her class (found on the Center’s website) See Timeline Chart, last page of Checklist for further details.

3. Arrange for helpers / chaperones (No more than eight adults per class, including bus driver and teacher). This is a closed event. Only parents who are designated classroom helpers / chaperones / bus drivers who travel with and assist the students will be allowed to attend Market Day. The children’s safety is our utmost concern and priority.

4. Just prior to the event, you will be emailed a template for “I’m a Helper” nametags to duplicate and distribute to your helpers / chaperones / bus driver prior to your arrival at Market Day. Have students create their own nametags. All adults and students must arrive with a nametag or they will not be allowed to enter.

5. We encourage you to begin your Mini-Economy as soon as possible.

6. Production for Market Day: Have students plan and produce (1) non-edible products only (2) no weapons or kits to make weapons of any kind (i.e. bows/arrows, sling shots, knives, guns, catapults etc. even if they are just shooting marshmallows!) (4) written materials should be age appropriate—some inappropriate publications have appeared (3) generators and/or electrical hook-ups are not allowed—batteries are suggested (4) raffles not allowed (5) products must be student-made or student-enhanced. (6) HELIUM FILLED/INFLATED BALLONS ARE NOT ALLOWED IN THE TURNER GYM.

7. All students must produce goods or services to sell in order to attend Market Day.

8. Market Day Judges are asked to select businesses to receive entrepreneurship awards. They will be looking for innovative products and/or outstanding marketing. The award will go to the “business”—so every student in the business will reflect on the business as a whole…just as in the real world. Please remember, judges decide on their own which products are most innovative and what constitutes outstanding marketing. Judging is a subjective process just as it is in the “real world.”

9. Market Day judges will be wearing “I’m a Judge” name badge when they visit each student business. Encourage students to talk about their business experiences like costs, profits, demand for their products, and determination of prices etc. to show how much they have learned about business, economics and entrepreneurship.
10. No fewer than three students per business in order to accommodate the number of students.

11. Optional: Money Designs for the Market Day Mini-Bucks Currency are due February 26th. The Mini-Bucks template may be found at the Center’s website. See Timeline Chart, last page, for further information.

12. The Average Income for your class is due March 7th. Once you have emailed your average income to Rebecca Booth booth.r@lynchburg.edu, you will receive the exchange rate you will use to convert your students’ classroom currency to Mini-Bucks for Market Day. See Timeline Chart, last page, for further information.

13. Shortly before Market Day, exchange your students’ classroom currency to Mini-Bucks using your classroom Exchange Rate (emailed to you in #12). We encourage you to hold the Mini-Bucks for your students until the morning of the event. This will help eliminate counterfeiting.

14. In duplicating the Mini-Bucks template, make sure students have enough “ones” to make change at Market Day.

15. Have a discussion with your students about pricing their products. Encourage each business to look at prices of other products at the market and price their goods accordingly: not too high, not too low. Students should be prepared to change their prices if necessary: Raise prices right away if products are selling too fast and lower prices if they are not selling at all. Caution students not to be too quick to lower prices because the market will be open for an hour.

16. Students must make arrangements with each other to take turns selling and shopping. Students must set-up up their own stores as that is part of the marketing that is being judged. Chaperones and bus drivers may not manage a store while students go shopping. A store should never be left unattended.

17. Pay each worker (chaperone / helper / bus driver and yourself) 30 Mini-Bucks for his/her services. These monies should be paid from taxes collected from the students. This is a great opportunity to discuss the idea that we often pay for something with tax money when everyone can benefit from it. (street lights, military, schools). Encourage workers to spend their Mini-Bucks at Market Day because the students want consumers! However, allow the students a chance to shop first.

18. All students must arrive at Market Day with nametags on. Create student name tags for Market Day that include the student’s name and school. Be creative.

19. It is essential to debrief Mini-Economy after the Market Day. (What did you learn? What would you do differently?) And, when you end Mini Economy, it’s important to find a way to give students an opportunity to spend the money they’ve earned. You do not want your very successful entrepreneurs to end up with a pocketful of Mini-Bucks that have no value after the Market Day. Some teachers arrange an auction (sell items parents / teachers have contributed—or passes, or certificates for lunch with the teacher). If you want to convert the Mini-Bucks students bring back to school into your own currency, ask Rebecca to send you the reverse exchange rate. Some teachers prefer to continue using Mini Bucks as their currency.

20. Each business must have a Business License at Market Day on March 24, 2016. Collect completed licenses, bring them to Market Day, and tape them to the front of each business table. The business license is used by the judges to gather the names of the winning businesses and their owners. See Timeline Chart, last page, for further information.

21. Distribute to each student the Parental Consent Agreement Release regarding videotaping, photos and recordings at Market Day. Collect and bring them to the registration table at Market Day March 24, 2016. See Timeline Chart, last page, for further information. No student may attend without this release form.
