FEATURED WESTOVER: ANTONIO D'ANGELO

Antonio is a sophomore from New Haven, Connecticut majoring in biomedical science and minoring in medical humanities. Antonio chose to major in biomedical science because he has always loved science and wants to have a career in medical research. Antonio added a medical humanities minor after finding an appreciation for medical ethics. Antonio is a member of the Latin Club, the University of Lynchburg Democrats, and Dr. Savage's book club.

In his free time, Antonio enjoys reading, researching topics that interest him, going on walks and hanging out with friends. In addition, Antonio loves spending time with his black cat Komori and listening to his favorite musician Bon Iver. Over the summer, Antonio kept himself busy by taking summer classes and going on drives down the Blue Ridge Parkway.

Antonio's favorite part about being a Westover Fellow is getting the opportunity to take honors classes, which are intellectually challenging. "After taking the honors equivalents to the general core classes, I can confidently say that I would not have gotten the same experience if I wasn't in Westover." Antonio also enjoys the amazing professors that teach in the honors college.

Antonio's favorite Westover class so far has been "Traditions and Revolutions", especially when the class was taught by Dr. Brickhouse-Bryson. Though the class was rooted in history, Antonio enjoyed the ethical aspects of the class. "It was the first time I really felt like I understood, and should put more mental emphasis on, ethics. The class made me think about my own personal ideologies, what motivates me in life, what I truly value, and what I consider to be happiness."
